

Do You Have Asthma?

Researchers at the National Institutes of Health (NIH) want to learn more about asthma. Information from this research may be useful in developing new treatments for asthma.

Consider participating if you:

- Are 18 or older
- Have asthma (even if you are not currently taking asthma medications)
- Do not have any other serious lung conditions

During the study you may have:

- One testing visit and one overnight stay at the NIH Clinical Center
- Tests of your lung function, blood work, urine collection, chest X-ray
- A procedure to collect cells from your airway (bronchoscopy)

There is no cost to participate.

Compensation for participation and travel may be provided.
